

Dr. Connie HwangAssociate Chief Medical Officer, Twin Health*

Connie Hwang, MD, MPH is the Associate Chief Medical Officer at Twin Health, a global health care company focused on personalized, data-driven approaches to reverse diabetes and chronic metabolic diseases. Dr. Hwang builds partnerships with employers, health systems and health plans that leverage Twin Health's digital twin technology to help patients achieve normal clinical values and stop medications. Prior to Twin Health, Dr. Hwang was Chief Medical Officer and Director of Clinical Innovation at the Alliance of Community Health Plans, an association of nonprofit health plans spanning 35 states and covering over 22 million Americans. Dr. Hwang engaged with clinical leaders across ACHP member plans to identify emerging health care trends and provide leadership on ACHP initiatives that improved patient outcomes and experience. Dr. Hwang previously served as Vice President of Quality at Evolent Health and Vice President of the Measure Applications Partnership, a public-private collaboration convened by the National Quality Forum with over 60 national organizations and nine federal agencies. In 2020, Dr. Hwang was appointed by the GAO to serve on the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute Board of Governors, which advises PCORI on its national research priorities and dissemination and implementation efforts.