

Dr. Sacoby Wilson

Associate Professor, Maryland Institute for Applied Environmental Health

Director of Community Engagement, Environmental Justice and Health Initiative

Dr. Sacoby Wilson is an Associate Professor with the Maryland Institute for Applied Environmental Health in the University of Maryland, College Park School of Public Health where he directs the Center for Community Engagement, Environmental Justice and Health (CEEJH). Dr. Wilson has over 20 years of experience as an environmental health scientist in the areas of exposure science, environmental justice, environmental health disparities, community-engaged research including crowd science and community-based participatory research (CBPR), water quality analysis, air pollution studies, built environment, industrial animal production, climate change, and sustainability. He works primarily in partnership with community-based organizations to study and address environmental justice and health issues and translate research to action. He is a member of the US EPA's Science Advisory Board, on the board of the Citizen Science Association, a member of the National Academy of Sciences' Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology (BEST), a former member of the USEPA's National Environmental Justice Advisory Council (NEJAC), a past Chair of the APHA Environment Section, and a past board member of Community-Campus Partnerships for Health (CCPH). He has won numerous awards including the Taking Nature Black Environmental Champion Award and North Carolina EJ Network Steve Wing International Environmental Justice Award for his work.